NEW ANTI-FRENCH RIOTING

Open Bids For Construction Of Union High School

CHECK SHOWS COST WILL NOT EXCEED ESTIMATE; MAY AWARD TONIGHT

Number of Contractors Are Present When Trustees
Consider Proposals

CONTRACTS for the construction of the new Glendale Union high school on the southeast corner of Verdugo road and Broadway may be awarded tonight at an adjourned meeting of the school's board of trustees.

Bids were opened yesterday afternoon at Glendale Union high school in the presence of all members of the board and over forty interested contractors.

On account of the great number of bids submitted and a number of alternatives, it was impossible for the board to come to any conclusion yesterday and decision was deferred until tonight's special meeting.

According to Architect George M. Lindsey, who checked over the bids as soon as opened, the cost of the new high school plant will not exceed the estimates. He was unable to mention any definite figure, but it is understood that about $540,000 is to be invested in the buildings and $50,000 in their furniture and equipment.

Want To Start At Once

A desire to get the construction work commenced at once was expressed this morning by Architect John C. Austin. He stated his opinion that it might be possible to award the contracts by the end of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George U. Moyle, principal and vice principal of the high school, and A. L. Ferguson, vice principal, all attended the opening of the bids as well as Irving H. Oliver, business agent for Glendale Union high school.

The official ceremony was performed in one of the music rooms of the household arts building. Every chair was occupied and it was necessary to bring additional chairs in to accommodate the interested contractors. Opening of the bids commenced about 2:15, and lasted for about an hour and a half. Many of the contractors present took notes of their competitors' bids.

Check Over Bids

Following the opening of the bids, the board of trustees held a short business session in which optimism was expressed as to the district's ability to get the high school plant constructed for the estimated cost.

Until late in the afternoon, Principal George U. Moyle and Architect George M. Lindsey remained at the high school checking over the bids and trying to decide definitely which ones in each classification were the lowest.

STREET LIGHTS FOR WESTERN SECTION
NOW PROMISED

City Authorities Reply to Plea for Service From
Number of Residents

Street lights are to be installed on all of the streets west of Pacific avenue just north of the wash as soon as possible, according to Peter Diederich, superintendent of the municipal service department.

A petition requesting street lights along the 500 and 600 block on West Dryden street, was received last night by the City Council.

"There have been several hold-ups and robberies committed in this section," it asserted, "and it is unsafe for pedestrians. A store and homes have been broken into in this locality and the undersigned property owners pray that you will give this matter your very early attention."

Signatures of the following residents were included: George H. Bryan, F. R. Pittman, Jesse B. McCallan, John T. Bibb, Jr., R. V. Wheat and B. E. Stratton.

Plan Improvement

"The street lights asked for are early contemplated," stated a reply by Mr. Diederich. "The public service department and the Pacific Telephone company have poled the tracts west of Pacific avenue between Gilbert street and Glenwood road and there still remains one pole line to be set south of Stocker street which the telephone company is to install. I am informed by their construction foreman that they are contemplating setting these poles within a short time."

"As soon as these poles are in place, we will not only install the lights as petitioned but we will install lights on all the streets west of Pacific avenue in this district."

Boys Will Be Shown Just How Local Department
Conducts Service

Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills district are to be the guests of A. H. Lankford, Glendale fire chief, Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made this morning.

"The Boy Scouts can be a big help to the fire department if they are trained and understand the rudiments of the game," said Chief Lankford. "In many cities older Scouts who have qualified for the merit badge in fireman-ship are organized into special Boy Scout fire corps and it is astonishing how efficient the boys become."

"I have been examining local Scouts in the merit badge for fireman-ship and thus far every boy that has come before me showed that he had studied hard and had a very intelligent knowledge of the rudiments of fighting fire and better yet—the prevention of fire."

To Tour Fire House

According to the chief, the Scouts will be taken all through the Broadway fire house and given an opportunity to see how fire alarms are turned in, and recorded, going down the greased pole, how speed is attained in connecting the hose and all the odds and ends of the fire-fighting game. Details of the big fire engines will be explained to the Scouts and "we will end up," remarked Chief Lankford, "by having our picture taken and then a ride down Broadway and Brand boulevard with the Scouts on the big fire truck."

Local Educators Attend District Conference at Redondo High School

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Bissell, president of the district, who announced that national association headquarters request the observance by all schools of "Founders' Day," February 17. Bills Are Discussed

Two bills now before the state legislature were discussed, the child labor bill and the community property bill. The matter of high school scholarship was also discussed, it being brought out that $8000 was given during 1922 to help deserving pupils continue their education.

Following the business meeting and luncheon, a fine program was enjoyed, given by the pupils of the Redondo high school. Two numbers particularly pleasing were the girls' glee club and the pipe organ solos.

Visitors were shown the "Roman Room" of the high school, said to be the only one of its kind in the United States. This room represents what the actual interior of a Roman residence might have been, with a central fountain, surrounding benches, an altar with statues, and many other historic reproductions in keeping with the architectural motif. It was brought out that Latin is so popular in this school, the classes are over-crowded, this room being used to hold recitations in that subject and in ancient history, and to observe the old Roman holidays and fast-days.

HOLDS GERMANY IN GENERAL DEFAULT
ON PAYMENTS

Commission Refuses Request for Moratorium; Demand Much Gold

By FRANK E. MASON

For International News Service

PARIS, Jan. 26.—The inter-allied reparations commission today proclaimed Germany voluntarily in general default of all reparations payments and deliveries. Motion to declare Germany in default was made by Louis Barthou of France, chairman of the commission. Great Britain did not vote.

Germany had appealed for an indemnity moratorium, but the reparations commission rejected the request.

The commission decided to establish the May, 1921, schedule of payments.

France, Belgium and Italy were in accord upon all issues while the British held aloof and refused to participate in any of the voting.

Demands Payment

The reparations commission decided to notify the allies by letter of Germany's default so that they could take any action they saw fit.

The commission has sent a letter to Germany demanding payment of 500,000,000 gold marks by January 31. This is the indemnity installment that was due January 15, but the allies decided to give Germany another fortnight to pay.

The Stephen C. Packer household of 362 Riverdale Drive is still celebrating the arrival on Wednesday, January 24, 1923, of the first grandson, a seven-pound son, to Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Packer of 141 South Columbus avenue.

Shortly after his arrival at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, the little fellow was greeted by his proud "dad" and equally proud "Grandpa" and "Grandma" Packer. Sharing with this group in the happy reception given the little fellow were "Grandpa" and "Grandma" Cook in San Francisco.

Mrs. Don H. Packer was formerly Miss Fern Sook and she and her parents are well known to Glendadians.

The new son and grandson has not been named as yet and while his proud parents are trying to decide just whose namesake he's going to be, he is viewing the world indifferently as if to say: "It's a beastly bore to have so many people who want you named after them!"

An obligation is imposed upon the municipalities doing the work to have the street restored to its original condition. In case the two municipalities are unable to agree, all matters of controversy are to be referred to the superior court.

FORMER KAISER'S
ROMANCE ENDED?

Ex-Ruler and His Bride Now
Occupy Different Parts
Of Castle, Is Report

LONDON, Jan. 26.—After slightly more than two months of married life, the nuptial happiness of the former kaiser and his bride, the former Princess Hermine of Reuss, has broken down, according to a Doorn despatch printed in the Yorkshire Evening News today.

Wilhelm and Hermine are said to be occupying different parts of the House of Doorn, the ex-kaiser's residence. The former war lord is reported to be most dejected.

Wilhelm and Hermine were married November 5, less than two years after the former Emperor's first wife, the ex-kaiserin Auguste Victoria died at Doorn.

Following the marriage, the couple settled down at Doorn and to all outward appearances both were enjoying a life of full wedded bliss. Wilhelm, in letters to friends, submitted by Germany, said that he was perfectly happy. In one other letter he said he had obtained a wife "who suited him perfectly."

The former kaiser is about thirty years older than his bride.

Local Realty Board Hears Talk By University Executive

TOO MANY AGENTS IN STATE, IS CLAIM OF DR. HAROLD STONIER

Number Have No Business to Be Licensed, Says Speaker; Tells Educational Needs

"THE most vital problem in business today is that of personnel," declared Dr. Harold J. Stonier, executive secretary of the University of Southern California, in an address before the Glendale Realty Board at the weekly luncheon at the Broadway Inn yesterday. "And the only way in which this problem can be solved is by the training of capable executives to assume the direction of affairs when the men who are now at the heads of great commercial enterprises are forced to pass on their responsibilities to others," he declared.

"The tendency today is toward departmental organization, in business, in government and in education, and the need for executive training is greater now than it has ever been. The real estate business, because of the fact that it has been split into smaller units, has felt this demand in a smaller degree than many other lines of business, but the time is at hand when real estate men, too, must look to the education of the recruits to their ranks. If the stability of the business is to be regarded as important."

Too Many Agents

Dr. Stonier said that there are now 38,000 real estate agents in the state of California, too many by far, he added, as a great many of them have absolutely no business to call themselves real estate men or to be licensed as such.

A business of the importance of the real estate business calls for men of high proportions, men who can develop into leaders in their respective communities and who will be prepared to accept the responsibility that goes with that position.

"It is essential," asserted Dr. Stonier, "that the difference between the terms 'realtor' and real estate 'agent' be made clear to everyone, and it is also important that the men engaged in the real estate business regard it as a profession, rather than as a game."

"In order to train for a profession," continued Dr. Stonier, "three things must be kept constantly before the minds of those engaged in it. There must be a content, there must be standards, and there must be the realization that profits come second and that service must come first."

Tribute to Boares

In all of his contact with business men of California, and especially in his work in connection with the classes of those engaged in the real estate business, Dr. Stonier declared that he had found the real estate boards of the state the most determined to maintain the highest standards in the conduct of their business and to conduct it on a basis that would insure the realization of its stability and trustworthiness in the minds of the public.

Responsible real estate men, he added, should be the final arbiters in the decision of municipal and state problems, such as transportation, public utilities, sub-divisions, and every aspect of civic affairs, and the only way in which they can fit themselves to accept such responsibilities is by education.

Opposes Division

The University of Southern California, said Dr. Stonier, has formed classes in the study of real estate business, and these classes are gradually coming to occupy a larger place in the university's scheme of activity, and he urged the members of the Glendale Realty board to place themselves in line with the university in "order that they might secure whatever advantages the institution may be able to offer them."

In concluding his address, Dr. Stonier emphasized the fact that the duty lies heavily on the real estate men of California to oppose in any way any division of the state along lines that would separate one part of it from any other and that would tend to destroy the unity of California. "The state must be held intact," he said, "and any attempt to divide California, especially during the next few months, when politicians will be active, must be balked by the real estate men, whose business it is to develop California along the lines that will assure its most rapid progress."

W. B. Boyard, comptroller of the University of Southern California, accompanied Dr. Stonier to Glendale and was a guest at the luncheon.

The committee that had been appointed by the board to confer with C. H. Gulick, regarding the bus lines that he proposes to establish between Glendale and adjacent points, submitted a brief report, but no definite action was taken as it was felt that further details should be furnished before the board adopted any course in the matter.

W. H. Reeves, city manager, expressed his belief that bus lines should be encouraged, as the march of progress showed that, just as the stage coach was superseded by the cable car, and that, in turn, by the electric car, the bus, by reason of its greater convenience and its ability to cover a wider territory, is destined to replace the electric car in the near future.

The resignation of Charles B. Guthrie as a member of the board of directors of the California Real Estate association was read, and it was moved that the Glendale Realty board endorse the nomination of Mr. Guthrie to succeed himself as a member of the state organization.

A number of communications were read and disposed of at the meeting.

MUSIC, READINGS WIN APPLAUSE FOR PLAYERS

Subjects of Interest Form Part of Program at Terry Reception

The reception given by the members of the Community Players at the home of Mrs. Howard L. Terry, 257 Windermere avenue, Eagle Rock, Wednesday evening, was one of the most pleasant social events of the winter months, according to the version of many attending.

A fine musical program, interspersed with readings and talks on subjects of interest to Community Players and the public, was presented. Miss Sinclair, who will have an important part on the play to be put on by the Community Players within the next few weeks, made a most interesting talk on costumes, make-up and other subjects of an interesting and instructive nature. Among other things, she said the auditorium at Central school was superior to either that of Pasadena or Los Angeles, and that the Community Players should feel fortunate in having as well appointed and commodious hall as they had at Central school.

George P. Willey, Shirley Allen, Mr. Ratliff, the Hare sisters' quartet and others delighted the audience with their musical numbers. Mrs. M. L. Marshall responded to encore on a reading. Light refreshments were served and a social hour followed the completion of the program.

GERMAN RIOTING AGAINST FRENCH CONTINUES

Invaders Take Over Railways and Other Property To Aid Coal Delivery

Chairman Barthou asked that discussion of the proposed indemnity moratorium for Germany be postponed because of the nature of developments in the Rhineland and Ruhr. In the meantime France urged that Germany be held to the schedule of payments agreed upon by the allied premiers on May 21, 1921, in London. Under this schedule Germany indemnity was fixed at approximately $2,000,000,000. According to the Petit Parisien, there are still between 40,000 and 50,000 Ruhr miners on strike, including 30,000 miners employed in collieries of the Thyssen family.

The French and Belgians today put the finishing touches on the military cordon established along the eastern fringe of the occupied area to prevent coal from being shipped into Germany from the Ruhr.

France is paying a tremendous sum to hold the newly occupied districts. In a few days Premier Poincare will go before the chamber of deputies and ask an appropriation of 45,000,000 francs to meet occupational costs up to the end of February.

French Begin Taking Over German Railways

By S. D. WEYER

For International News Service
ESSEN, Jan. 26.—With a ring of steel encircling the Ruhr and Westphalian industrial zone, the French today began taking over German railways for military purposes. Absolute military control was imposed upon the Dusseldorf-Reckinhausen-Kettwig-Essen railroad and it is being used for movement of troops and war materials.

The Ruhr was quiet upon the surface this afternoon, but seethed underneath and was charged with potentialities. Only the activities of the German police, who are acting as a buffer, prevented bloody collisions between the German population and French soldiers.

The French have converted the railway station at Dusseldorf into a military depot.

French officers continue to stretch out the "customs blockade" or customs barrier along the eastern fringe of the occupied zones with Hamm as a center. The railway situation is gradually getting worse. There are great delays and the car shortage increases daily.

United States exports of grain, when closed steady to 1/4c lower than yesterday's finish; corn 1/4c up, and oats unchanged. Provisions finished firm for short ribs, easier for lard.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The stock market held steady throughout the late dealings today, although profit taking sales caused recessions in some issues. The Pierce-Arrow issues were weak, the common falling over 1 point while the preferred yielded 3 points.

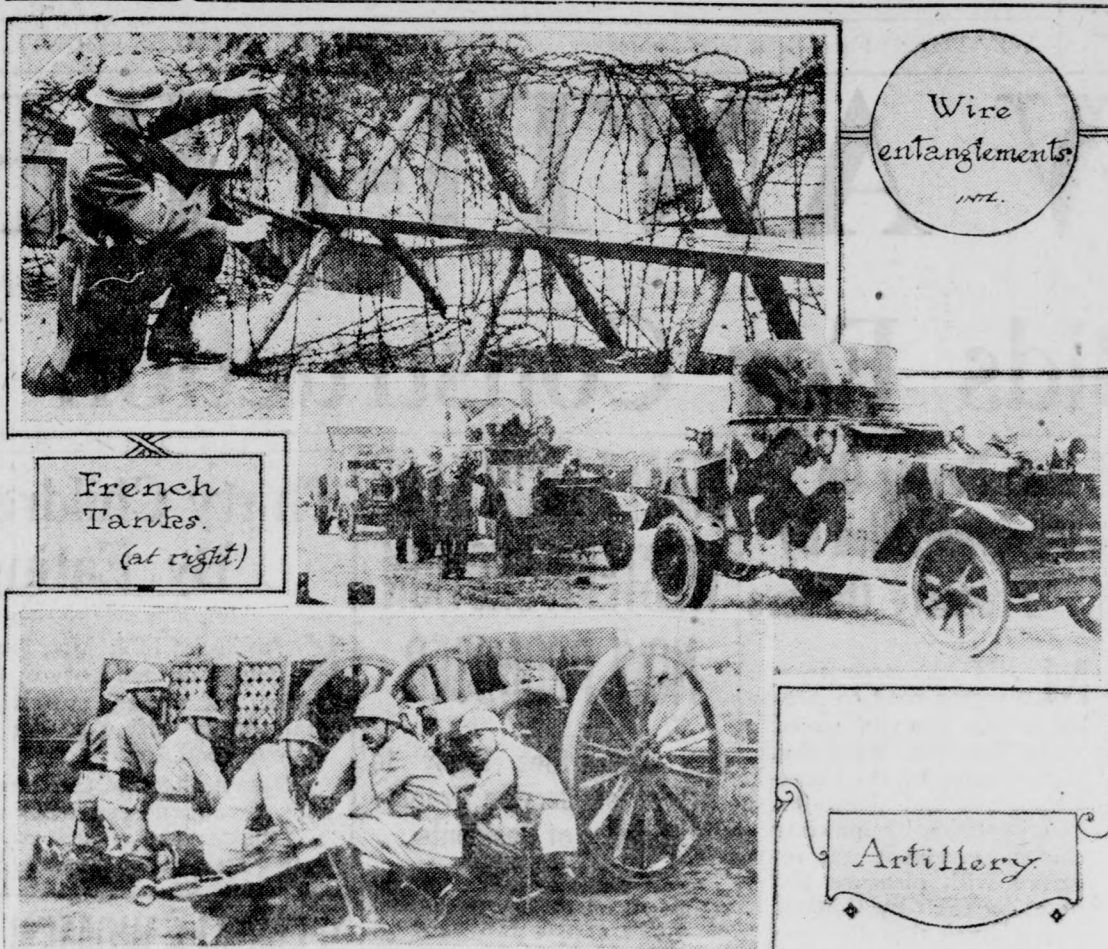

In the copper issues were in demand, Chile selling at 30, while Anaconda crossed 48. Consolidated Gas (new) reacted over 1 point.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds were steady. Sales totaled 763,000 shares; bonds $979,100.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Practically all the news in the grain markets today was decidedly bearish, yet prices did not materially decline. Grains opened weak and lower, sold off rather sharply and subsequently recovered. One of the most bearish factors was a statement by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who feared the reparations crisis would cut down United States exports of grain.

CHURCH CAMPAIGN WORK OF SCHOOLS

FOR FUNDS WILL OPEN FEB. 5

$50,000 to Erect Building Is Congregation's Goal In Coming Drive

The campaign to raise $50,000 with which to erect a new building on the Congregational church site in Eagle Rock will be launched February 5 and continue for two days, is the announcement of the director Mr. Kling, who has outlined the plan. Concerning the plans to raise funds Mr. Kling says:

"This campaign is to be emphasized as an 'Every Person Giving Movement.' This applies more particularly to members of the congregation and Sunday school. It may or may not be followed, but the value of this method lies in affording each individual an opportunity to make an investment of constructive value to the community with a reflex benefit to every contributor. It will be a great thing in the years to come for each member of the church, either old or young to say, 'I helped to build our beautiful church.'"

Personal Donations.

"No pledge cards will be passed; no subscriptions or collections taken in any public meeting. The plan calls for personal subscriptions, in order that the project may be considered on its merits."

"This result can only be obtained by a personal contact between workers and prospective givers."

OFFERS ROOM AS MEETING PLACE FOR BAPTISTS

Move Launched to Organize Church by Members of Sect in Eagle Rock

Mrs. G. Bloss of 218 West Park avenue, Eagle Rock, is very desirous of seeing a Baptist church organization formed in Eagle Rock and as a means to that end offers her big cheery front room as a meeting place until other arrangements could be made.

Mrs. Bloss says she is sure there are many members of the church in Eagle Rock and they should by all means be holding services. As a further inducement to perfect an organization, Mrs. Bloss informed the News that she was willing to board and room a minister free of charge for a time, and would furnish a room for Sunday school, as well as a piano for the services.

Mrs. Bloss is an invalid and seldom leaves her home. She is very enthusiastic over this matter and can be reached by telephoning Garvanza 2905, or may be seen by those interested at her home, 218 West Park avenue, Eagle Rock.

Artist Gives Reading To Aid Church Funds

REHEARSE DAILY FOR SHRINE PLAY

Mystery Shrouds Identity of Local Actors in Cast Of 'Smile Again'

Rehearsals for the Shrine Club's coming play, "Smile Again," are being held twice daily, and the members of the cast are rapidly becoming better acquainted with their parts, according to information that has leaked out within the last few hours. The professional cast that has been secured for the play has been supplemented by the pick of the local talent, and professionals and amateurs are throwing themselves into their work with an enthusiasm that is a guarantee of the success of the performance on February 8th.

It is not the intention of the promoters of the show to reveal the identity of the players, at least not until the last minute, but every member of the Shrine Club is ready to raise his right hand and make affirmation that the actors, in the language of Charles Hahn, are a bunch of "hand-picked lallapalooses."

In addition to the comedy itself, special numbers will be introduced that will drive away dull care during every minute of the show, and the Shrine Club orchestra has interpolated a lot of musical specialties that will be one of the high lights on the program.

Tickets can now be exchanged for reserved seats, according to the committee in charge of the affair, and it is urged that ticket holders secure their seats at the first available opportunity, as the house is liable to be crowded long before the stage hands start to roll up the curtain.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Hostesses at Tea

Mrs. John Camphouse and Mrs. George H. Moore entertained with a tea at Mrs. Moore's home, 221 West Elk street, yesterday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, under the auspices of the Women's Aid society of the Pacific Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. In addition to the women of the church, several neighbors and friends were guests.

An interesting program was given. One of the numbers was a series of bagpipe selections, played by Alex McDougall, who was dressed in Scottish costume for the occasion. Another number was a vocal solo by Mrs. Glenn Ogden, who, with her husband, has recently returned from India, where they were for many years missionaries. Mrs. Ogden sang in the Hindu language, and the number proved to be most picturesque. The program was concluded with a selection of readings by Mrs. Morrison.

Refreshments were then served and a social time enjoyed.

Luncheon Success

The forty people who were served lunch yesterday noon by the Women's Guild at St. Mark's Episcopal church hall were unanimous in complimenting the women on the first lunch of a series to be given at noon every Thursday. By the lunch the women added a goodly sum to their treasury. Mrs. Frank England, hostess of the hospitality committee was assisted by Mesdames W. J. Farber and B. B. Atwood.

Mrs. A. A. Bassett, Guild president, led the devotional service after lunch. Twenty-five women spent the afternoon sewing. Plans have been completed for the dinner which the Guild is serving to all members of the parish Tuesday night, January 29 at 6:30 o'clock in the Guild hall.

Regular Session

Sixty girls of the Christian Circle club met last night at the Christian church, for their regular weekly session. The women of the First Baptist church were hostesses, serving a delicious supper. Miss Soper led the regular Bible lesson, covering the life of Abraham.

It is announced that the next four meetings of the club will include a short program prior to the regular Bible lesson. In particular, a big meeting is planned for next Thursday night's meeting, when Mr. Rimmer, a worker among young people, will be a special guest of the club.

Miss Mildred Lyon, worthy matron of Glen Eyrle Chapter, No. 237, announces that the meeting tonight will begin at 7:30 o'clock and that four candidates will be initiated.

But the whereabouts of the couple are unknown to their parents. The bride, who is not yet out of her teens, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Sibberell of 224 West Milford street. Mr. and Mrs. James C. Beldin of 212 North Jackson street are the boy's parents. He is 21 years old.

ANY JUDGE KNOWS!

Taking things for granted is dangerous, in case of silverware.

It is difficult to believe, however, that people fifty years from now will sigh for the old songs that were popular in 1923.

P-T. A. Holds Meet

Glendale Avenue Intermediate Parent-Teacher association members participated yesterday in a meeting full of varied interests. The officers of the association held a meeting before the general session.

Mrs. W. C. Wattles, president, presided, and during the directors' meeting a unanimous decision was made to buy a phonograph for the school. Funds for the instrument will be raised by a series of food sales.

During the association meeting held later Mrs. John W. Cotten directed community singing of American folk songs. Particularly enjoyable was the round-table discussion on "Habit Forming and Character Building," directed by Mrs. Martinez. Both parents and teachers took part in the discussion.

Mr. McMasters, one of the teachers, gave a resume of current events, and Miss Gladys Sharpe announced a benefit play the school is giving Thursday, February 15, at the high school. The play is to raise funds for the athletic association.

The Glendale Avenue Intermediate and the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher associations are to have a joint pie booth at the Federation bazaar February 23, and the members are now making plans for that event.

Clubs Interested

Local card clubs and clubs from Los Angeles are taking great interest in the benefit affair being given Monday afternoon at the Broadway Inn by the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, according to Mrs. Walter Jones, curator.

Reservations for their entire memberships have been made by several of these clubs for games of Bridge and Five Hundred.

Prizes are to be awarded every five tables. Proceeds from the affair will go towards the fund for flat silver, the Shakespeare section and the Maids and Young Matrons' section have promised for the new club house.

Bloodhounds on Trail Of Rancher's Slayers

CAPITAN, N. M., Jan. 26.—A sheriff's posse with bloodhounds on the trail of two assassins who shot from ambush and instantly killed Robert L. ## PYTHIANS STAGE DRAMA OF ORDER

Principles of Organization Are Embodied in Play Shown Last Night

"Damon and Pythias" was revived last night by Newton Beers, the brilliant monodramatist, at the Knights of Pythias hall, 103-A West Park avenue.

This play has a special significance to members of the order, as it is said that this fraternal organization is based upon the undying friendship that existed between Damon and Pythias.

Several vaudeville and musical numbers followed the monodrama, among them a piano duet by Mrs. Frank Willett and her daughter, Mrs. Brown.

The evening was concluded with a dance, for which A. M. Kelly's popular Shrine Club orchestra furnished the music.

The committee in charge of this enjoyable entertainment consisted of Attorney George H. King, E. S. Melzer, M. J. Edwards and F. E. Peters.

Legion Quintet Whips Whittier by Big Score

The Glendale Legion basketball team went to Whittier last night and administered the predicted beating by the score of 42 to 16.

"It was a rough house game from the start, the Whittier boys evidently thinking in terms of football rather than basketball," stated Charles Gibb of 454 West Colorado street upon his return. "The refusal of the Glendale team to lose their sweet dispositions at any time and the absolute inability of a large majority of the Whittier team to hold their peevishness in check, coupled with a first class display of snappy team work on Glendale's part, created the top-sided score."

Glee Club to Present Church Entertainment

An entertainment of the Bible Institute Glee club of Los Angeles is to be given tonight at 8 at the Glendale Presbyterian church. There is no admission charge but a silver offering will be received. ## ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS ASSIST COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAM

George B. Karr Tells About $25 Dinner to Raise Funds; Quotes Accomplishments

THE Rotary club luncheon yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium was given over largely to furthering the Community Service budget drive culminating in the $25-a-plate dinner at the auditorium next Monday night, January 29, at 7:30 o'clock.

"The Community Service idea will sell itself," said George B. Karr, of the committee representing Rotary in the drive, "but like any other new idea, it must be given a good send-off. The history of the movement, in the many cities and towns where it has been established, shows that the second year's budget is twice as large and twice as easy to raise as the first. The reason is that, once launched, Community Service rapidly gains the good headway of public opinion, because it is a sound investment."

Tells Development
Mr. Karr went on to sketch briefly the development of the idea from the time of its inception during the war, when it functioned among the camps to such great advantages, in ways that are well remembered.

He quoted the following things that Community Service will do for Glendale:

"It will give you an agency through which the whole community can develop its greatest undeveloped resource—leisure time. It will promote community athletics—inter-church, inter-club, inter-business athletic leagues, field days and tournaments. It will arrange for lighting the tennis courts.

"It will supervise summer playgrounds for our children. It will conduct a music institute.

"It will promote community singing and a community orchestra.

"It will foster the amateur dramatic movement.

"It will produce a great outdoor play.

"It will arrange for a community Christmas celebration.

"It will furnish leadership and assistance in the development of home and neighborhood recreation.

"It will teach us the value of play and promote play activities.

"It will train local talent for community leadership in recreation, music and drama.

"It will co-operate with existing agencies in the promotion of further leisure-time opportunities for children and adults. These activities will always be of the highest type.

"It will make Glendale a better place for our boys and girls to grow up in and a happier place for all of us to live in."

Other Things. Too

Mr. Karr then called attention to several worthwhile things Community Service leaders have done, are doing and plan to do for this city. He mentioned the program of games put on at the fathers' program at the Broadway school Tuesday night by Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, Mrs. Charles Larson and Mrs. MacDowell. He also mentioned the Community Service Players' forthcoming drama, entitled "An Arabian Love Story," under the direction of Mrs. Nanno Woods, scheduled for presentation the night of February 15. And some time in April or May, he brought out, there is to be a magnificent pageant given at Sparr Heights, under Community Service auspices.

All these projects will have the two-fold effect of turning idle time to account, and of advertising Glendale as a city awake to the most modern and forward-looking movements, Mr. Karr concluded.

Too Much Leisure

Richardson D. White, city supervisor of schools, who next spoke, answered the question: "Does our responsibility end when our children leave high school?"

"We turn them out, diplomas in hands," stated Mr. White, "and then leave them to shift for themselves, thinking, if we think at all, that our responsibility ends there. But our responsibility does not end there, for we leave them to face the years from 18 to 25 with too much undeveloped leisure. The natural result is that they attempt to develop that leisure in their own way—which often are ways far from the best. It is our duty to see these young men and young women of ours through that trying period until they settle down, just as much as it is our duty to see them through high school."

Takes Three Tickets

Following his talk, Mr. White subscribed $10 toward one $25 dinner ticket. Others followed suit until $55 had been subscribed. The club voted $20 more, making $75 in all, or three tickets. Cards with the names of those subscribing were then put into a hat and the winning three drawn out by Secretary J. Herbert Smith. They were Pay G. Stone, Rene E. Olin and Rule E. Downing. Mr. Stone declined the honor because of a previous engagement, and the club unanimously appointed Mr. White to fill his place.

The meeting was then turned over to George U. Moyses, principal of the high school, and chairman of the educational committee of the club. Mr. Moyses called upon Rev. Ernest E. Ford, who gave a brief, but very compelling and significant talk on the principles of Rotary, as exemplified by the classification system.

Law of Balance

Rev. Ford stated his belief that there are some great eternal laws written deep in the world consciousness, and that one of these is the law of balance, wherein the various units—political, business, social, sociological, biological, etc.—function together as a perfect whole that is called world equilibrium.

Rotary stands for the unselfish, harmonious functioning of these various units. Rev. Ford brought out in conclusion, stating that when the peoples of the world fully grasped this Rotarian principle, strife would be at an end, and "peace on earth" be realized.

The following visiting Rotarians were present at yesterday's luncheon: J. H. Fisher and J. C. Williams of Marshalltown, Iowa; N. J. Lindgreen of Aberdeen, S. D.; J. Will Johnson of Pueblo, Colo.; Robert A. Ganahan of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; John Habbick of Ventura, and G. Spencer Shimm and William Kilgore of Los Angeles.

13 REASONS FOR 13-CENT STAMP

College Students Point to Significant Events in U. S. History

For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Citing thirteen reasons why the postoffice department should issue a 13-cent stamp, and declaring the entire history of the United States is bound up in the figure thirteen, twenty-six students, just twice thirteen, of the Shepherd College State Normal of West Virginia, petitioned Postmaster-General Work to authorize issuance of a 13-cent stamp.

Not only should a 13-cent stamp be issued, the students avowed, but the design on it should commemorate the thirteen colonies which originally constituted the United States.

Here They Are
The thirteen reasons for issuing a thirteen-cent stamp were stated in the petition as follows:

"First—America was discovered on the eve of the thirteenth of the month.

"Second—The original Republic consisted of thirteen colonies.

"Third—The first official flag had thirteen stripes and thirteen stars.

"Fourth—Our national emblem, the American Eagle, requires thirteen letters to spell it; also does our motto, 'E pluribus unum.'

"Fifth—The first word to pass over the Atlantic cable was sent on the thirteenth day of the month.

Thirteen on Quarters
"Sixth—Our silver quarter is written all over with thirteen. Around the head of Liberty are thirteen stars. The eagle bears an olive branch, with thirteen leaves, in one claw, and thirteen thunderbolts in the other. On his breast is a shield bearing thirteen bars, and from his beak is a ribbon bearing the motto with thirteen letters. Each wing has thirteen feathers, and it takes thirteen letters to spell 'quarter dollar.'

"Seventh—There are thirteen letters in John Paul Jones's name.

"Eighth—There were thirteen ships in the first American navy.

Some More Reasons
"Ninth—Perry's victory on Lake Erie was won on the thirteenth day of the month.

"Tenth—The Stars and Stripes were raised over Fort Sumter on the thirteenth of the month.

"Eleventh—General Pershing reached France on June the thirteenth, 1917.

"Twelfth—The thirteenth amendment to our Constitution freed the country of slavery.

"Thirteenth—It would not cost any more to make a thirteen-cent stamp than any other one."

Prolonged Search for Amnesia Victim Ends

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 25.—J. C. Todd, a wealthy banker and planter of Hogansville, Ga., whose mysterious disappearance recently aroused a nation-wide search, has been found and his story to relatives proved he was suffering from amnesia.

His mental condition, brought on by an hallucination of debt, even though his financial condition was excellent, caused him to leave his home, tour around over a number of Southern States, in an effort to lose his creditors, in the opinion of the medical authorities.

Dr. W. D. Todd, his son, whose home is in Marietta, Georgia, stated that his father, even now, was unable to give an account of his trip. His father, Dr. Todd states, will be placed in the hands of local specialists.

SUBDIVISION OF 13 LOTS OPENED

Realtors Claim Location and Fruit Trees Will Aid Sale of Property

William McMillan, E. L. Schuyler and Peter Hanson, realtors, of 122 West Broadway, are opening up a small and select thirteen-lot subdivision on South Adams street between Garfield and Acacia avenues.

Seven of these lots front on South Adams street and are 50 by 135. The other six are fine big side lots, many of them carrying full-bearing walnut trees.

As these lots are offered at prices scaling down to practically $1000 each in some instances, the subdividers feel confident they will be quickly snapped.

In Glendale's Fastest Growing Section.

There is still an opportunity to purchase a homesite in the beautiful Northwest Section of Glendale, on the original easy terms of $50 down, and erect a temporary home.

ONLY A FEW LOTS LEFT

Out of the whole 125 acres which we have subdivided and put on the market within the last year and a half there are only about twenty lots left available for purchase. When these are sold all other property which we will offer in this section will carry much heavier restrictions with no temporary houses permitted and necessarily much higher initial and monthly payments.

Opportunity Knocks Once at Every Man's Door

One of these lots may be yours by a payment of $50 down. Look over your rent receipts for the past year, total them and see what a substantial equity you would have had if you had been paying this on your own property. Hundreds of men have made their start in this way in FAIRVIEW. Come, and let us show you how it can be done before it is too late.

FAIRVIEW is located on a beautiful slope, close to boulevards and electric car transportation; an unsurpassed view, fine soil and drainage, close to schools, stores, etc.

You take possession of the lot as soon as the initial payment is made and get a contract direct from the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. Water, gas and electricity is paid and you can start your temporary home, move in and save rent. Come out today or Sunday. We fully anticipate that by Sunday night there will be very few lots left in what has been one of the most remarkable subdivisions ever offered in Glendale.

If you come Sunday, drive out San Fernando Road to Allen avenue, opposite the Inner-tube Factory, then two blocks up to right and two blocks left. Saturday, call at office and we will take you to the property.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHEN SHALL WE MARRY?
 "Do you believe in marrying young?"
 A Letter Friend wants me to answer that question.

It's really altogether too big a question and too much a matter in which circumstances alter cases to answer, and so I'm not going to try to. Instead I'll just tell you a few of my thoughts on the general subject.

Ten years ago I would have said promptly and positively that it was better to wait until 25 to 30 before marrying, because then you are more apt to know what you want in the way of a mate.

Today I think I would put it this way: "If you can pick out the right person and if you are economically placed so that you can do it, it's a grand thing to marry young."

Nature Throws Her Veil
 As to picking out the right person, well, I am not sure that we do it so much better at 25 than we do it at 20. Nature can throw the veil of glamor over a personality that makes it impossible for the person interested to see character outlines clearly, at almost any age.

On the other hand, if married life means to you a normal family life, what an advantage the woman who marries young has over the older woman. Children come natural to her. She has them at the age nature meant her to have them. She both bears them and rears them more easily. Children are never so much of a care and anxiety to a woman of 21 as they are to the woman of 31. A friend of mine was married at 18, at 19 her first baby was born and she had three before she was 25. I never saw any one take children so easily or so naturally or enjoy them more. I don't mean she didn't take excellent care of them, but she didn't fuss the way the older, less resilient mother is apt to.

RIDGY FINGER NAILS
 A great many women write to me complaining of the ridges on their finger nails, and I don't believe very many of them try hard to get rid of these lines.

For, of course, it can be done no matter how badly the nails may look. If the ridges are very sharp and have existed for long time, it will take years. But it's worth the effort, especially as a great deal of improvement will be noticed from the first few treatments.

These treatments are as simple as can be. First of all, give the nails plenty of oil to nourish them and to soften them. Wear gloves at night, over hands smeared liberally with oil or cream. Protect the hands with rubber gloves when sweeping. After a week of this (a form of protection which, however, should go on all the time) begin the other part of the treatments.

Soak the nails in warm soapy water, file and trim as for an ordinary manicure. Take a fine piece of pumice stone, wet and rub with a little soap. Go over the surface of each bad nail, wearing down the ridges of that nail, and paying no attention to the scratchy surface you produce.

Wash again, rub with vaseline or olive oil or cold cream, wipe dry. Then take a buffer and some good polishing powder and rub and rub and rub. You'll rub off all the scratches, leaving the nails slightly less ridgy than before and much healthier for all this friction.

Do this every week or so. Use plenty of oil every day and you'll not know your own nails in a few months or a year.

This same treatment will prevent ridges from deepening, when they first appear. Pretty nails are worth any amount of effort, I think.

Use Pumice For Ridges
 You can do a little yourself by massaging the skin with cold cream and rubbing it for ten minutes with ice.

Chapter XLII
COLIC

In my last two talks to you Mamas I have told you how we babies suffer when we have colic. I hope I haven't frightened you. I want you to know that while we do suffer terribly and feel that we are going to burst, we never do.

Doctor wants me to sum up for you the chief causes and some of the things to do for this distressing source of unhappiness in our learned professor that I am. And while I call attention to my being a learned professor, I want to tell you Mamas that I am no exception in the baby line in this case. You can all learn a great deal from your babies if you will study them and realize that you can. I do not think that they are simply to love and to play with and to work for.

All of the things that produce colic depend upon the fact that they cause indigestion.

CHIEF CAUSES OF COLIC:
 First: Constipation of the Mama or Baby.
 Second: Incorrect habits of feeding.

(a) Too rapid.
 (b) Irregular.
 (c) Too frequent.
 (d) Feeding lying down.

Third: Disagreeing mother's milk or formula.
 (a) Mama's milk or formula may be too rich in sugar or fat.
 (b) Large casein (protein of milk) curds.

Fourth: Overfeeding or underfeeding.
 Fifth: Gas-forming germs in the intestines.
 Sixth: Too tight abdominal binder.

I have told you before what my Mama did for me when I had colic. If you have lost that paper and want it, send to my Doctor and she will send it to you.

I won't have time to explain about all of these things that cause colic today but I shall take them up later. Believe me, I can't talk too long on the subject of colic. You know it, don't you, Mamas? And we babies surely do.

For today I shall just have time to talk on some of the incorrect habits of feeding and how they cause colic. If we are fed too rapidly we are apt to swallow a lot of air and the curds in the stomach are apt to be larger.

If we are fed irregularly and too frequently that also will cause indigestion and so cause colic.

If we are fed lying down the air that we swallow does not come up. We should always be fed reclining, or at least half way to the sitting-up position, in some loving arms. And every once in a while, especially after our feeding, we should be lifted upright to some nice shoulder and perhaps gently patted on the back to help any excess gas to come up.

If our Mama's milk is too rich, we can do a little yourself by massaging the skin with cold cream and rubbing it for ten minutes with ice.

WILL MAIL FORMS FOR TAX RETURNS

Revenue Collector Lays Stress on Important Rules In Filling in Blanks

Taxpayers whose net incomes for 1922 were in excess of $5000, and there are approximately 25,000 of them in the southern California district, must make their return of form 1040, which will be distributed soon, according to an announcement made yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell. Due notice will be given when the 1040 forms are available. Forms will be mailed to every taxpayer who filed a return for 1921. Taxpayers who did not file for 1921 and whose income for 1922 brings them within the scope of the income tax laws should secure the necessary forms at Collector Goodcell's office.

Form 1040C, for use of resident and non-resident aliens, and form 1040F, which is a schedule for use of farmers in returning farm income and expense, are now ready for distribution.

Form 1001C, exemption certificate for non-resident alien, form 1115, claim of non-resident alien individual for benefit of personal exemption of $1000, and form 1126, certificate of inventory for calendar year 1922, were released for distribution yesterday.

Watch These Points
 Here is Collector Rex Goodcell's "be sure" list for taxpayers:

1.—To use the correct form in making your federal income tax return. Use form 1040A if your net income for 1922 was $5000 or less. Use form 1040 if your net income for 1922 was over $5000.
 2.—To print or type your name and address plainly at the head of the return.
 3.—To sign the return, giving your correct address, at the bottom of page 2 in the space provided.
 4.—To make oath as to the correctness of the return before a deputy collector of internal revenue or a notary public or other officer having authority to administer oaths. If this affidavit is executed before a deputy collector there is no charge for this service.
 5.—To pin your check securely to the return and see that the check is signed. Payment must be at least one-fourth of the tax due.

6.—To file your return early. Make your return at once and make payment in full if possible. It will not cost you any more to make your return now. Don't wait until March 14.
 7.—To make full explanation of items 12, 13 and 14 on page 1 of the return, in the space provided under schedule E on the second page, stating in full the names of the educational, religious or charitable organizations to which contributions are made.
 And do it now!

Babies that have unboiled cow's milk may have large curds in their stools, and this may cause obstruction and colic. Boiling the milk for three or four minutes will prevent these large curds forming.

I'll come back. Au revoir.

TRANSFER WOMEN PRISONERS, PLAN MISSION PLAY TO START 12TH YEAR HOUSE RATIFIES COLORADO TREATY

Would Move Female Convicts From San Quentin To Farm at Sonoma

Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—Miss Eleanor Miller, assemblywoman from Pasadena, has introduced a bill in the lower house which provides for the transfer of all women prisoners from San Quentin to the Sonoma Industrial Farm for Delinquent Women and carries with it an appropriation of $75,000 for the erection of a suitable building and inclosure.

Miss Miller, as representative of the clubwomen of the state at large and working with Assemblywoman Anna L. Saylor of Berkeley, has made a personal study of the situation, visiting San Quentin, the Sonoma home and the state school for girls at Ince. In an interview yesterday afternoon with a representative of this paper, she said:

"The reason for offering this bill is that on my visit to San Quentin I found that the women there had very inadequate quarters. They do not get a fair deal. The men have a baseball diamond, athletic grounds, library and garden and are privileged to work around the attractive grounds.

"The women are marched to the garden for exercise at night after the men have been locked up for the day. The windows of the women's quarters are painted so that they see none of the attractive quarters and there is no room for them to occupy their time industriously. The cells have to be occupied by more than one person, the women's quarters having been built for 20 and occupied by as many as 56.

"There is no place for them to work and so these unfortunate are kept in idleness. It is my belief that all persons should be industrious. That is impossible for the women of San Quentin," Miss Miller declared.

"Under the plan I am favoring for the Sonoma home the prisoners would have a work room and a garden where they could raise vegetables and cut down the cost of their keep.

"Most of those women who are in San Quentin have committed only one crime and there is an opportunity to rehabilitate them.

Asks Humane Treatment
"I want to understand," continued Miss Miller, "that I am not trying to take the prisoners to a summer resort. Far from it; but I do want to see them treated humanely. I believe in the Sonoma Industrial Farm thoroughly and it would be a calamity to have it done away with at this time."

This was in reply to the report that it costs a great deal to operate and it is unofficially said that the economy axe will be turned toward the home.

"The Sonoma farm is the only thing we have for women in the state except the home at Ventura," Miss Miller concluded, "and I cannot see why the economy program should begin on the most helpless people in the state—imprisoned womanhood."

Protects Merchants
Assemblyman Frank Johnson of Hanford has two bills with teeth in them. One is an amendment to the innkeepers' law which makes it a felony to defraud your grocer or clothier. He says that, while the hotel keepers can collect theirs, the grocer can't collect from the hotel keeper. Again, he wants the tax col-

World Famous Drama to Open Feb. 3 With Powerful Cast of Artists

John Steven McGroarty, author, announces that the twelfth year of his world-famed Mission Play at San Gabriel will begin there on the afternoon of February 3, next. The matinee will commence at 2:15 o'clock.

The author anticipates the coming season with an unusual degree of satisfaction. Besides a large number of players who have been with him ever since the Mission Play had its inception, he has this year made some very notable additions to his cast.

Foremost among the new faces will be the noted romantic actor, Monroe Salisbury, who will essay the leading role of the Play—the renowned Fray Junipero Serra. Mr. Salisbury will be the seventh great actor to play this role. It was first played by Benjamin Hornig for two seasons. Hornig was followed by George Osborne, then came Wilfrid Rodger, then Tyrone Power, then Norval MacGregor, and next for four years following came Frederick Warde.

Varied Experience
"All these men were great in the part," said Mr. McGroarty to a press representative the other day. "And just as one was greater in some ways than his predecessors, so do I feel now that Mr. Salisbury will be greater in some ways than any of those who have gone before him. To begin with, he looks the part. Father Junipero Serra was six feet tall, just the same height that Salisbury is. But, more than anything else, Mr. Salisbury has what I would call the California temperament. Those who saw him play Allesandro in the immortal story of Ramona will instinctively feel that he will make a great Junipero. He has had a wonderful training and experience, having been leading man for Mrs. Fiske and Richard Mansfield, two of the greatest dramatic artists who ever trod the English speaking stage. He has a wonderful voice and a most captivating personality."

Harry Lonsdale, so long the leading man for E. S. Willard and Nat Goodwin, also comes to the Play this year. And to the great corps of unrivaled singers has been added Helene Peabody and Wilbur Herwig. Julia Ruiz, the marvelous Spanish dancer of Barcelona, returns to the cast as does also Juanita Vigore, Juan Zarraquinos and others of the beloved dancers of the Play.

Agreement for Distrigution Of Water Before Senate For Final Approval

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—The assembly has adopted the Davis resolution ratifying the interstate Colorado river pact fostered by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover. The resolution has yet to pass the senate before the formal and official approval of California is given to the project.

The interstate pact is a tentative agreement between Arizona, Colorado, Nevada, Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming and California for an allocation of the waters of the Colorado river for irrigation purposes.

It was urged in behalf of the project in the assembly that it would result in a reduction of the flood menace in Southern California and would make more water available for the irrigation of arid sections in the southern part of the state.

New Bills Brought In
Assembly bills approached the 400 mark with the introduction of a large number of new measures, including quite a few that are certain to be prolific of legislative conflict.

Assemblyman Walter Schmidt of San Francisco brought in a bill making "black listing" of employees a felony. He said it was designed to prevent the practice of employers, particularly following strikes, in keeping workmen out of employment by agreement between themselves.

The bill would also prohibit the "rustling card" system whereby employees in certain industries are required to carry identification cards bearing their photographs.

Reduce Law's Delays
Assemblyman Spencer of Alameda introduced twenty bills, all designed to reduce the "law's delays." All of them apply to civil procedures and propose to speed up litigation by lessening the time limit on appeals and various other steps in court processes.

One of the Spence bills would reduce from one year to six months the period of time that must elapse before an interlocutory decree of divorce can become final.

Assemblyman Charles Foster of Fresno introduced a bill calling for a new highway bond election in November, 1924. It fixes $20,000,000 as the amount of the new issue.

"Save the state two or three hundred thousand dollars in distributing the licenses and get several millions more taxable property at one fell swoop," he says.

COAL WORKERS RIOT
ESSEN, Jan. 26.—Rioting among the German populace in front of the coal syndicate offices is focusing the serious attention of the French forces.

Lots of people are poor subjects for a mind reader.

HOUSE RATIFIES COLORADO TREATY

Assemblyman Charles Foster of Fresno introduced a bill calling for a new highway bond election in November, 1924. It fixes $20,000,000 as the amount of the new issue.

Assemblyman Combs also has a highway bond measure in, and another calling for a complete report from the new highway commission on the degree of completion of the state highway system and the condition of the highway finances.

It is not likely that any highway bond measure will be adopted by the legislature until after this report has been given and a complete investigation made of the highway situation.

Assemblyman Fellom of San Francisco introduced a resolution inviting Mrs. May Hunt Nolan, a newly elected congresswoman from San Francisco, to visit Sacramento and address the legislature. Assemblyman Hornblower opposed the immediate adoption of the resolution and it was referred to the committee on rules.

ROMANCE COMES FROM JOURNEY

Mrs. Corina Higginson
& Bernard F. Rogers, Jr.

The culmination of a romance that ripened under the warming influence of the South Seas became known with the announcement, in Boston, of the engagement of Miss Corina S. Higginson, daughter of a millionaire family there, to Bernard F. Rogers, Jr., of Chicago, an insurance broker and popular member of the younger social set. He met Miss Higginson while she was touring the country in a Liberty loan drive. A year ago he started on the now famous cruise of the ninety-eight foot yacht Speckjacks, owned by Albert Gowen, of Chicago. When the yacht touched at Sydney, Australia, Rogers was homesick, until he chanced upon Miss Higginson in the streets—and now they are to marry.

TRADUCER OF CALIFORNIA IS SCORED BY GLENDALE CITIZEN

High Noble Booster of Decatur Is Rebuked Stingingly In Home Town Paper

GUS BOOKER, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles, appoints himself High Noble Booster of the Decatur, Ill., Boosters' club, in a letter printed in the Decatur Review, esteemed daily of his home town.

"Murder," says Gus, "seems to be a daily occurrence and if a day passes without one, they have two the next day. They killed a man here the other day for a pint of milk. And still worse, the crazy automobile speeders kill people for nothing. They say they do things in Los Angeles that they do not do in any city back east—and I agree with them."

Gus then bursts into quite a lengthy poem in which he says L. A. is and has been very anxious for a harbor and its brainy men devote many hours to planning how to get one. He finally advised some city official to lay a pipe line from the ocean to the city and then "if they can suck as well as they can blow they will soon have a harbor," he said.

Kick From Glendale
Henry G. Hoedinghaus, of 1211 North Brand boulevard, past High Noble Booster of the Decatur Boosters' club, and now an exalted dignitary in the Glendale chapter of the organization, takes exception to Brother Booker as follows: Decatur Review: Being at one time a resident of the good city of Decatur and at present a reader of your paper, it was my pleasure and interest to read the article in your issue of Dec. 17 from your esteemed citizen, Gus Booker, who is visiting in Los Angeles.

I was not surprised that Gus Booker made the statements, but was indeed surprised to know that a newspaper that has always been so ably edited would allow such statements to be printed in its columns, and that if the Decatur Boosters club considers Mr. Booker a worthy member of their club to be club High Noble Booster, they are indeed welcome to him. If I recall, Mr. Booker has been in our locality before, and if not greatly mistaken his previous communication was of the same type as this one, and why he is obliged to return to this country which he so dislikes, I do not understand.

Keeps Bad Company
Evidently Gus has been associated with bad company since his arrival here, as he says the real estate men are buncoing, the women are wild (I admit some need tampering), the population is half Jap, many Jews (I always considered them very good people), many Spaniards, a great many Hindoes (I believe I have met two or three on the streets of L. A.), and then we have the mix (I suppose he meant Tom Mix, the movie star), and these 400,000 tiger women. I have been wondering where we white folks come in.

I have been in this wonderful west off and on since 1914 (I made three trips before I appreciated this country and had sense enough to stay), and in all this time it has been my good fortune not to be associated with the class of people Mr. Booker came in contact with. I see in the Review received to-

Dry Sleuths Set Fire To Still Worth $10,000

DENVER, Jan. 26.—The first step in Governor Sweet's announced intention to enforce strictly the prohibition law came when state enforcement officers seized the largest still ever found in Colorado in a woodland near Franktown, thirty-five miles southeast of Denver. The officers razed the distillery by fire after making the capture and arresting three men. The plant was estimated to be worth $10,000. Thousands of gallons of illicit liquor and mash were confiscated.

L. W. Chobe Is Recipient of
Two Checks for Work
On Glendale Float

"I only regret that I can't paint a word picture good enough to express our appreciation of your efforts in helping to put Glendale on the map!" exclaimed Mayor Spencer Robinson last night in the City Council chamber, officially presenting L. W. Chobe of 1201 Sierra avenue with the purse raised in his behalf by citizens who desired to express their appreciation of his genius in creating Glendale's peacock.

"You are certainly a winner and we are proud of you," remarked Mayor Robinson, commenting on the fact that Mr. Chobe's floats have brought honor to Glendale six consecutive times at the Tournament of Roses.

Gets Two Checks
"I am deeply honored," replied Mr. Chobe, "although I feel that the City Council and civic organizations are putting it a little strong when they put all the glory upon me, because I feel that credit is due to all those who aided in the construction of this float."

Besides a check for $234.50, representing donations from various citizens and civic organizations, Mr. Chobe was given a silver cigarette case containing a check for $100 from the city of Glendale.

Gold Finding Anniversary
Woman Goes To Congress
Father of Tonopah Dies
Putting Bible in School
By Gil A. Cowan

GOLD discovery day was observed Wednesday in Sacramento by the Whiskerinos. Tribute was paid James W. Marshall, discoverer, who on January 24, 1848, made the find at Sutter's mill on the American river.

Governor Richardson addressed a throng, who stood in the rain, at the west front of the capitol, a picturesque group, dressed in the garb of forty-niners.

One hundred historic buildings were marked with appropriate ceremonies and a wild and woolly time was had by all during the afternoon and evening.

California sends a woman to congress in the person of John I. Nolan's widow. It seems a fitting tribute to the dead representative that she should be so honored, although history will likely repeat itself and she will return to the bedside after serving the term.

Women as law-makers are too serious and are handicapped for lack of crust, or bluff, or worldly experience. But likely there are women who have all of that—and never get elected to any office.

Indeed, it is difficult to be a politician. In the first place, the campaigns are humiliating when you must seek the support of everyone to win. Naturally, a gentleman is handicapped by not being able to stoop as low as those who are not. And the unrefined is handicapped by not being able to look so high as the gentleman.

When you get a chemically pure combination gentleman and fighter he is a Theodore Roosevelt.

James L. Butler, father of Tonopah, Nevada, is dead. He was a son of the west who with his gun was in the wilderness in search of gold.

One of his burros ran away and he left his wife camped on Oddie mountain while he went after the animal. Before his return his wife discovered gold and together they started the Tonopah gold rush.

So the death of James Butler sees another pioneer gold discoverer pass into the great beyond, perhaps an infinitely larger field in which to search for the American gold.

Yet gold is a great treasure to have. Men sell their souls, their intellect, their lives for the glittering pieces of twenty.

Strange, isn't it, when we stop to think that more than two-thirds of the world's inhabitants do not know the value of gold?

One representative at Sacramento would put the Bible in the schools. Another proposes to amend his bill to include the Koran, Book of Mormon and Key to the Scriptures, inasmuch as there are children of all faiths and creeds and color attending California schools.

Another legislator wants the constitution of the United States studied. He must believe the educators are derelict in their duty.

The Vallejo Chronicle says: "It must be a queerly framed mind that conceives the idea that a man should be fined and imprisoned for doing such an innocent deed as playing ball, selling bread or gasoline, or shaving a customer on Sunday. A mind so constructed is not freed from the drags of intolerance. The country needs to be protected from his influence."

POSTAGE METERS EXPEDITE MAILS

Glendale Firms May Install
Time Saving Machines
For Correspondence

The invention of the postage meter and its approval by the postoffice department as a means of expediting the handling of letter mail, through the printing and cancellation of stamps in the office of business firms with a large volume of correspondence, is already tending to revolutionize the business of the postoffice department in several important particulars.

With the development of big business, experts decided that the time taken up with pasting stamps on many thousands of pieces of mail every day was largely wasted, and the result of the investigations conducted by the efficiency engineers of many big corporations was the invention of the postage meter, which is now used to stamp the postage on the mail that passes through the United States postoffice.

The meter is used in connection with a mailing machine to stamp, postmark and cancel the stamps on envelopes at the rate of 250 a minute and the machine also seals and stacks them in a pile.

Postage Is Specified
These meters are licensed by the Third Assistant Postmaster General, and before the machine can be used it must be taken to a specified amount of postage, after which it is sealed and locked by the postmaster, who collects the amount of postage specified when the meter is set. When the specified number of stamps has been used the printing mechanism automatically locks and the meter has to be reset by the postal authorities.

The machine prints an oval design labeled "U. S. Postage 2 Cents Paid," or whatever the amount may be, together with the number of the permit and the number of the meter. At the sides of the oval are the wavy lines used by the postoffice to indicate that a stamp has been cancelled, and at the same time the city of origin, the time and date of mailing are stamped on the envelope.

Letters stamped by the meter are sent directly to the distributing cases for delivery, taking their place ahead of ordinary letters that have to be sent through the cancelling machines in the postoffice and thus being assured of quicker delivery to the persons to whom they are addressed.

The meter system is not adapted to small firms, but it is already in use by large department stores, insurance companies, federal reserve banks, and other institutions that send out thousands of pieces of mail daily, where it has been found that it saves time and labor, saves money for the government, and that it keeps an exact register of the amount of postage used by the firms using it.

May Get Meters Here
Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson had been requested by several Glendale firms that have a large volume of correspondence to investigate the matter and submit detailed reports of the work of the postage meters in order that they may decide whether their adoption would prove beneficial and economical in the handling of mail through the Glendale office, and requests for this information have already gone forward to Washington.

The growth of business in the local office amply justifies the installation of such machines, says Postmaster Jackson, and the only question to be decided is whether the firms who are investigating the matter have sufficient correspondence to permit them to install the machines in an effort to save themselves and the postal staff in the Glendale office the time and labor incidental to handling many thousands of pieces of mail.

Hasten to Bedside of Brother Hurt in Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Meeker's plans for spending a few days in San Francisco were interrupted Wednesday on receiving word that Mr. Meeker's brother, F. Leslie Meeker, had met with an automobile accident. Cancelling their reservations on the boat, they left immediately for Fullerton where Mr. Meeker's brother resides.

The accident occurred in the north but Mr. Meeker had been brought home and they found him resting comfortably, although he had been badly injured, when a car in which he was riding skidded and turned over several times on the highway. Mr. and Mrs. Meeker will go north on Sunday if his brother continues to improve.

Dutton's Real Estate
Sales Show Activity

The demand for Glendale real estate is showing more pronounced activity now than it ever has shown, according to Dutton the Home Finder, of 510 East Colorado, who declares that he has sold property valued at $59,975 since the first of this month. Mr. Dutton also is engaged in transacting a number of other important deals at this time that will send his total sales up to a much more impressive figure before the end of the month, and he looks for business to continue growing steadily all through this year.

In order to take care of his growing business, Mr. Dutton has been forced to enlarge his office and add to his selling force since January 1.

Radio business is about 1 per cent of the sales of department stores.

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Bridge was upon the point of saying that he had seen him and that he had ridden north, when it occurred to him that a thousand dollars—even a thousand dollars in Mex—was a great deal of money, and that it would carry both himself and Billy to Rio and leave something for pleasure beside.

Then up spoke a tall, thin man with the skin of a coffee bean. "I saw him, Senor Captain," he cried. "He kept his horse in my corral, and at night he came back and took it out saying that he was riding to visit a senorita. He fooled me, the scoundrel; but I will tell you—he rode south. I saw him ride south with my own eyes."

"Then we shall have him before morning," cried the captain, "for there is but one place to the south where a robber would ride, and he has not had sufficient start of us that he can reach safety before we overhaul him. Forward! March!" and the detachment moved down the narrow street. "Trot! March!" And as they passed the store: "Gallop! March!"

Bridge almost ran the length of the street to the corral. His pony must be rested by now, and a few miles to the north the gringo whose capture meant a thousand dollars to Bridge was on the road to liberty.

"I hate to do it," thought Bridge, "because, even if he is a bank robber, he's an American; but I need the money and in all probability the fellow is a scoundrel who should have been hanged long ago."

Over the trail to the north rode Captain Billy Byrne, secure in the belief that no pursuit would develop until after the opening hour of the bank in the morning, by which time he would be halfway on his return journey to Pesta's camp.

"Oh! man Pesta! I'll be some surprised when I show him what I got for him," mused Billy. "Say!" he exclaimed suddenly and aloud, "Why the devil should I take all this swag back to that yellow-faced yeg? Who pulled this thing off anyway? Why me, of course, and does anybody think Billy Byrne's boob enough to split with a guy that didn't have a hand in it at all. Split! Why the hell not take it all!"

"Nix! Me for the border. I couldn't do a thing with all this coin down in Rio, an' Bridge'll be along there most any time. We can hit it up some in Ill' ol' Rio on this bunch o' dough. Why, say, kid, there must be a million here, from the weight of it."

A frown suddenly clouded his face. "Why did I take it?" he asked himself. "Was I crackin' a safe, or was I pullin' off something fine fer poor, bleedin' Mexico? If I was a doin' that they ain't nothin' criminal in what I done—except to the guy that owned the coin. If I was just plain crackin' a safe on my own hook why then I'm a crook again an' I can't be that—no, not with that face of yours standin' out there so plain right in front of me, just as though you were there yourself, askin' me to remember an' be decent. God! Barbara—why wasn't I born for the likes of you, and not just a measly, ornery mucker like I am. Oh, hell! what is that that Bridge sings of. Knibbles."

There ain't no sweet Penelope somewhere that's longin' much for me, But I can smell the blundering sea, and hear the rigging hum; And I can hear the whispering lips that fly before the out-bound ships,

And I can hear the breakers on the sand a-calling "Come!"

Billy took off his hat and scratched his head. "Funny," he thought, "how a girl and poetry can get a tough nut like me. I wonder what the guys that used to hang out in back of Kelly's 'ud say if they seen what was goin' on in my bean just now. They'd call me Lizzy, eh? Well, they wouldn't call me Lizzy more'n once. I may be gettin' soft in the head, but I'm all to the good with my dukes."

Speed is not conducive to sentimental thoughts and so Billy had unconsciously permitted his pony to drop into a lazy walk. There was no need for haste anyhow. No one knew yet that the bank had been robbed, at least so Billy argued. He might, however, have thought differently upon the subject of haste could he have had a glimpse of the horseman in his rear—two miles behind him, now, but rapidly closing up the distance at a keen gallop, while he strained his eyes across the moonlit flat ahead in eager search for his quarry.

So absorbed was Billy Byrne in his reflections that his ears were deaf to the pounding of the hoofs of the pursuer's horse upon the soft dust of the dry road until Bridge was little more than a hundred yards from him. For the last half-mile Bridge had had the figure of the fugitive in full view as his mind had been playing rapidly with seductive visions of the one-thousand dollars reward—one-thousand dollars Mex, perhaps, but still quite enough to excite pleasant thoughts. At the first glimpse of the horseman ahead Bridge had turned his head down to a trot that the noise of his approach might thereby be lessened. He had drawn his revolver from its holster, and was upon the point of putting spurs to his horse for a sudden dash upon the fugitive when the man ahead, finally at the bank by the noise of the other's approach, turned in his saddle and saw him.

Neither recognized the other, and at Bridge's command of "Hands up!" Billy, lightning-like in his quickness, drew and fired. The bullet raked Bridge's hat from his head but left him unscathed. Billy had wheeled his pony around until he stood broadside to Bridge. The latter fired scarce a second after Billy's shot had pinged so pitifully close—fired at a perfect target but fifty yards away.

At the sound of the report the robber's horse reared and plunged, then, wheeling and tottering high upon its hind feet, fell backward. Billy, realizing that his mount had been hit, tried to throw himself from the saddle, but until the very moment that the beast toppled over the man was held by his cartridge belt which, as the animal first lunged, had caught over the high horn of the Mexican saddle.

The belt slipped from the horn as the horse was falling, and Billy succeeded in throwing himself a little to one side. One leg, however, was pinned beneath the animal's body and the force of the jar jarred the revolver from Billy's reach.

His carbine was in its boot at the horse's side, and the animal was lying upon it. Instantly Bridge rode to his side and covered him with his revolver. "Don't move," he commanded, "or I'll be under the painful necessity of terminating your earthly endeavors right here and now."

"Well, for the love o' Mike!" cried the fallen bandit. "You?" Bridge was off his horse the instant that the familiar voice sounded in his ears. (To Be Continued)

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—W. F. Sullivan discusses the memorial to soldiers of the World War to be erected in St. Louis.

TOMORROW—Crime and accidents are rampant in Los Angeles, writes William G. Cayce, correspondent in the southern California city.

By W. F. SULLIVAN.
For International News Service.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—Within a beautiful plaza, grouping municipal and Federal administrative buildings, it is proposed to erect a magnificent memorial building in commemoration of the soldiers of St. Louis who sacrificed their all for the honor of their country.

The plaza site would take in a stretch of property in the heart of the city approximately 400 feet wide and 1,300 feet long. In the center of the group of public buildings would be erected the memorial structure.

Washington is the only other city in the United States that has provided a public building plaza, and a great campaign is under way to bring the citizens of this city to the idea.

The cost of the proposition would be $6,000,000—to be placed before the voters of the city at a special bond-issue election on February 9 for approval.

While the complete sketches and plans for the building have not been drawn or decided upon, it is proposed to erect a building that will house all activities of military and patriotic organizations and contain a memorial hall.

TUNING AND RESONANCE
Oscillation transformer. The secondary moves up and down the rod, inside the primary.

To obtain resonance between the closed and open oscillatory circuits the following simple procedure may be used. Only two instruments will be required to obtain results, a wavemeter and a hot wire ammeter, which will both be fully described later in these articles under the caption, "Auxiliary Apparatus."

We will assume that the desired wave length required is to be 600 meters. The coupling between the closed and open oscillatory circuits should first be as far apart as possible and the antenna and ground disconnected from the oscillation transformer. The wavemeter should be placed first in close proximity to the primary of the oscillation transformer. A rough calculation of the number of turns of primary inductance should then be set up in the closed circuit by depressing the key. A reading of the wavemeter will then determine the wave length of the closed circuit. If the first rough calculation was incorrect in the number of turns of inductance required and the desired wave length not found it will be easy to add or reduce the number of turns.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BOTTLE
One day when Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods not far from his hollow stump bungalow, he chanced to pass the hollow tree office of Dr. Possum, who made all the animals well when they became ill.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily, hello!" cried Dr. Possum, as he came out on the front stoop with a bottle in his paws. "How are you, Uncle Wiggily? How are you?"

"Why, I'm feeling fine," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman. "My pink nose doesn't twinkle quite as fast in winter as it does in summer, but that isn't anything."

"No, indeed," agreed Dr. Possum. "It's just because of the cold weather that your nose doesn't twinkle so fast."

"I suppose so," said Uncle Wiggily. "But how are all the sick animals you are trying to cure?"

"Doing very well—very well," answered Dr. Possum. "And if you are going past Tommie Kat's house I wish you'd do me a favor."

"I will," promised Uncle Wiggily. "What is it?" Just leave this bottle at Tommie's house for him," went on Dr. Possum, handing the bunny rabbit what seemed to be an empty bottle. "Tommie has a little touch of the new-mew fever," said Dr. Possum.

Uncle Wiggily was just going to ask what good it would do to send an empty bottle to the pussy cat boy when the telephone in the office began to ring, and Dr. Possum stepped inside, after handing the bottle to Uncle Wiggily.

"Well," thought the bunny rabbit gentleman to himself, as he looked at the bottle in his paw. "I don't see what good an empty one is going to do, but as long as Dr. Possum wants me to take it to Tommie I shall do so. Maybe Tommie wants to whistle on the empty bottle," thought Uncle Wiggily.

For that can be done, you know. If you take an empty bottle and blow across the mouth of it with your lips puckered up you can make a noise like a whistle. A big bottle will make a low, deep whistle like the 7 o'clock factory tooter, and a little bottle will make a shrill note like a traffic policeman stopping an automobile when it wants to turn somersaults.

"Yes, I guess Dr. Possum is sending this empty bottle to Tommie so the pussy boy can whistle on it and forget his fever," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well, I'll take it to him."

Uncle Wiggily hopped off with the bottle, for it did not seem that Dr. Possum was coming out again. In fact, he was still talking over the telephone. Then Uncle Wiggily noticed that though the bottle seemed to be empty it had a cork in it.

"Funny thing—corking up an empty bottle," thought the bunny gentleman. "But I guess Dr. Possum knows best. Anyhow, I'll take this to poor Tommie Kat and maybe it will make him well."

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along with the bottle, when, all of a sudden, out from behind a snow bank popped the Bob Cat. "Gurr-r-r! Gurr-r-r!" howled the Bob Cat. "I suppose you know what I want, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Is it to nibble my ears?" timidly asked the bunny. "It is!" howled the Bob Cat. "But before I nibble your ears what have you in that bottle?"

"There's nothing in it," said the bunny, and really he believed there wasn't. But the Bob Cat rudely snatched away the bottle, saying:

"If there's nothing in it, why is it corked up? Ha! I don't believe you. There must be something good in this bottle even though it seems empty. First which are separated by perfectly gauged pieces of mica and will break down at a potential less than 600 volts.

the Bob Cat took the cork out of the bottle. I'll drink what's in it and then I'll nibble!"

And away he ran. Uncle Wiggily picked up the now empty bottle. It had been filled with a new kind of bitter medicine to make Tommie's fever better. And the medicine was so like water that there looked to be none in the bottle, even when it was full.

"Ha! That was funny!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he went back to Dr. Possum and got more water-like medicine for Tommie. This time no Bob Cat met the bunny and Tommie soon grew better. But the Bob Cat had a bitter taste in his mouth for a week. Tommie had sugar in his bitter medicine, so he didn't mind it so much. And this is the end of the story. But if the roof of the house doesn't come down to the kitchen to see what the dining-room table is having for supper, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bunt's buttons.

CHICAGO PROBING BIG ARSON PLOT

Fifty Fires Each Month Are Due to Machinations of
'Trust,' Is Belief

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—"Get the arson trust!" That is the order issued by Chicago authorities as this city concentrates in an effort to wipe out the latest of its criminal organizations—an alleged ring of crooked fire insurance companies and policy holders believed responsible for the increase in fires here at the alarming rate of more than fifty a month, during the last year. The best sleuths of the police and fire departments are now working on the alleged activities of the "arson trust," and officials predict that indictments, arrests and sentencing to prison of its members will come at no distant date.

Seek Old Gang
Similarity of circumstances surrounding many of the fires of the last year with fires of incendiary origin traced to a gang a few years ago has led to the conclusion that a majority of the fires were a part of a conspiracy. Several convicted members of that organization are now serving prison terms. That it is possible that some of the men who were members, since released from prison, form the nucleus of the new alleged organization is believed not unlikely. These men are now being sought.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the 'arson trust' cleaned up through indictments and convictions a few years ago, or one similar to it, is operating in Chicago," said John F. Fullerton, fire commissioner. "The ring is composed of crooked adjusters, firebugs and grafting firemen who connive with crooked fire insurance companies and crooked policy holders."

Make Triple Probe
One of the methods of investigation adopted by the authorities involves the triple investigation of fires of seeming incendiary origin. Each of the insurance companies involved, the state fire marshal's department and the Chicago Fire Department will make an individual investigation and report, each of which must be approved by the local and national boards of underwriters, the marshal's office and the city fire department before the case shall be dismissed.

ADVERTISING FOR CHURCH SUCCESS

Space in Daily Paper Is Big Aid, Report of Religious Committee

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Use of space in the daily newspapers is the most effective method of bringing the people into churches in the big cities.

The conclusion is one of many observations on church publicity and efficiency contained in findings of a committee of the Chicago Church Federation. The findings are a direct result of the National Publicity Conference held here last October and attended by a large number of ministerial and lay delegates.

Among the pertinent conclusions reached were the following: "The most effective way to reach the crowd and interest them in the church is through the daily newspaper in cities of 650,000 and over."

"The newspaper welcomes news, but is shy on propaganda."

"The newspaper is more interested in what you do than in what you say, especially if you do something to help another person or the community as a whole."

"It pays to serve the newspaper even at one's inconvenience. One minister said he postponed a funeral and a wedding to furnish an interview requested by his daily paper."

"Get on good terms with the newspaper by occasionally furnishing news which does not especially concern you or your particular church."

"You can create news. Preach on matters current in the press. The Salvation Army painted flowers on beer mugs, which proved popular and were pictured in the press."

"Get the facts in correct detail to the newspaper office and trust the editor to give it the right form."

It Pays to Advertise
"It pays in dollars to advertise. One metropolitan church increased its loose collections to $22,000 in two years, certain other smaller churches showing a proportionate increase."

Advertising lifts the standard of preaching and service in order to make good and come up to advertising.

"A resolution of the council of the city of Glendale declaring its intention to improve a portion of Mountain street, Western avenue, Winchester avenue and Tenth street and certain streets and alleys intersecting therewith in the city of Glendale and describing the district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of said improvement and providing bonds for the payment of same."

Adjoined.

NATIONS' LEAGUE ADVISES EUROPE

Disagreeable Jobs 'Wished
Off' on It, Says Sir
Erick Drummond

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service
LONDON, Jan. 26.—Take it from Sir Erick Drummond, the League of Nations is the "handy man" of Europe.

Sir Erick, who is the general secretary of the league, contends that whenever European nations have a job that looks difficult or disagreeable they "wish it off" on the league. Whether the problem is political, scientific, administrative, executive, humanitarian or financial the practice has grown up of "turning it over to the league."

The league, Sir Erick made it plain, is not complaining. It delights in its tasks and welcomes the burdens imposed upon it.

Modestly the league's secretary advanced the claim that every problem that has been submitted to the organization for adjustment, except one, has been straightened out or is in process of solution. The one exception is the Vilna dispute.

"We were unable to bring about an adjustment of the Vilna matter," Sir Erick said, "but the intervention of the league undoubtedly averted a situation that might have had very serious results."

Disputes Settled
Two political disputes which Sir Erick claims have been satisfactorily settled by the league are those involving the Aland Islands and Albania. Both of these controversies, he declares, had possibilities "fully as pregnant with disaster as was the dispute which brought on the European war."

The league takes great credit to itself, its secretary declares, for obtaining guarantees designed to preserve the independence of Austria.

Financially speaking, Sir Erick contends, the league has demonstrated its ability. The commission of the league which is governing the Saar Basin has a surplus in its budget—a situation few European governments can duplicate.

One of the immediate plans of the league involves a customs conference, to be held under the auspices of the economic committee, which will be asked to draw up uniform customs regulations designed to help the flow of trade between nations. This conference will be held at Geneva in the near future.

The league also intends to take a hand in the movement for disarmament, according to Sir Erick. It has been proposed that a commission be appointed to draw up a detailed plan for disarmament to be presented to the next assembly of the league. The question of the extension of the Washington naval armament treaties to nations that were not represented at the Washington conference also is to be discussed at the next meeting of the league council.

The humanitarian work of the league, at present is centering around the fight to stamp out the evils of opium and cocaine. The opium question is a difficult one, Sir Erick admits, but the cocaine problem is not insoluble.

"If the league is properly supported by the nations of the world," Sir Erick said, "it can stamp out the cocaine evil in five years. All that is necessary is to establish a system of controlling production by the licensing and strict regulation of factories producing the drug."

Although America has rejected membership in the league it has not entirely held aloof from the activities of the organization, Sir Erick said. The first official conference of the United States with once also is to be discussed at the next meeting of the league council.

The humanitarian work of the league, at present is centering around the fight to stamp out the evils of opium and cocaine. The opium question is a difficult one, Sir Erick admits, but the cocaine problem is not insoluble.

"If the league is properly supported by the nations of the world," Sir Erick said, "it can stamp out the cocaine evil in five years. All that is necessary is to establish a system of controlling production by the licensing and strict regulation of factories producing the drug."

Although America has rejected membership in the league it has not entirely held aloof from the activities of the organization, Sir Erick said. The first official conference of the United States with the league came with the appointment of a representative of the American government on the commission set up by the league to consider means of preventing the spread of anthrax. More recently the United States government has named a representative to the league's advisory committee established to consider problems arising out of the "white slave" traffic.

The question of the admission of Turkey to the league, which has arisen as a result of the Near East conference at Lausanne, will have to be decided by the assembly of the league at its regular meeting next September. If the matter became urgent, however, Sir Erick said that the league council, which meets in January, has the power to call a special meeting of the assembly to consider the question.

Install Immense Radio Set for White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. — Wireless has brought America to President Harding's private study in the White House.

By means of a new and powerful wireless receiving set, which has just been installed in the executive mansion by the operations department of the Marine Corps, President Harding now can "listen in" on radio broadcasts throughout the nation.

The new wireless outfit is a Marine Corps set which was used during the war on mammoth tanks by the combatant forces of the United States on French battlefields. It replaced a smaller navy receiving set, which formerly was at the White House.

President Harding operates the set himself. According to friends he spends many hours, usually after a hard day's work in the office, listening to concerts, speeches and radio programs from such distant points as Chicago, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. He always finds keen joy whenever he "tunes in" on some famous orchestra, or a program by a well-known singer.

Because he has denied himself all social engagements during Mrs. Harding's convalescence, the President has turned to the wireless for his evening's amusement instead of going to the theatre or to local entertainments. This is said to be the chief reason he ordered the larger radio set, in order to be able to hear broadcasts from the big wireless stations of the country.

Ku Klux Money Scheme, Declares Ohio Pastor

BUYRUS, Ohio, Jan. 25. — "The Ku Klux Klan is a gigantic financial scheme. It is a cunning and fraudulent method of enriching enormously the heads of the movement, who are playing on the outstanding prejudices of the different peoples of the country," according to Rev. H. M. Eagleson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, sermonizing on the "K. K. K."

Will Build More Dams On Housatonic River

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 25. — The Housatonic River, tumbling through gorges in the Litchfield Mills, will be the most dammed stream for its length in the country if present plans are carried out. With four large dams already staying its rushing waters—at Canaan, New Milford, Stevenson and Derby—plans are being made to construct two more dams in the same section.

Owners of franchises to convert the river's "white coal" into electrical energy are already supplying the busy industrial cities of Waterbury, New Britain, Danbury, Bristol and Ansonia with power from these dams and expect to extend the field to half the state when the new dams are done, cutting the consumption of coal hugely and putting Connecticut in a position to defy coal strikes of the future.

While the river is being converted into power its shores are being lined with summer camps and cottages, adding to the strength of Connecticut's other great industry—caring for summer visitors.

Wife Is Sharpshooter, Husband Asks Divorce

ELYRIA, Ohio, Jan. 25. — That his wife was handy with a revolver, shooting him three times on one occasion and giving him a close invitation to the undertaker is the allegation made made by John Rabish, South Amherst business man, seeking a divorce. Rabish also declared that his wife helped herself to cash from the register.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. — The railway shompen's strike resulted in an increase of 121.1 per cent in the number of casualties from train accidents during the months of July, August and September, as compared with the fatalities for the corresponding period of the preceding year, the interstate commerce commission announced today.

ENTERTAINS FOR GUESTS AT CLUB

Mrs. J. G. Huntley Hostess at Brilliant Reception at Lovely Flintridge

Picturesque Flintridge Country club was the scene yesterday afternoon of one of the most brilliant events of the social season, Mrs. J. G. Huntley, of 1440 Highland avenue, receiving complimentary to Mesdames Harry McCormack and C. W. McFadden.

Mrs. McCormack and Mrs. Huntley were childhood friends in Binghamton, New York, and it was a great pleasure to Mrs. Huntley on returning from her eastern trip last year to find that Mr. and Mrs. McCormack had come to make their home in Glendale.

Mrs. McFadden, who has returned to Glendale after an absence of four years spent in Bakersfield, is being cordially welcomed back as one of the popular young matrons in social affairs.

Artistic Color Scheme
For the reception the large living room of the attractive club house was most artistically decorated. The color scheme of orange and old blue was carried out with the golden acacia blossoms and the shining leaves of California oak against the blue hangings of the room, creating a real California-Spanish atmosphere. Glowing logs in the fireplace added to the cheering hospitality of the occasion.

Tall orange candles were placed on the tea table, which had as a centerpiece a spray of acacia with a border of oak leaves.

Mrs. Huntley and the honorees, Mrs. McCormack and Mrs. McFadden, were in the receiving line, while the hostess' daughter, Miss Virginia Huntley, met the guests upon their arrival at the club house.

Assisting the hostesses were Mesdames E. U. Emery, W. E. Evans and A. W. Tower.

During the reception hours three of Glendale's talented artists entertained.

Mrs. Frank Norman Arnold delighted with three numbers, "The Star" (Rogers); "A Golden Thought" (Gertrude Ross), and "Tread" (Rasbach).

Miss Doris Packer gave most artistically the third act from the play "Sowing the Wind." Miss Packer possesses real dramatic talent and in acknowledging the pleasure of her hearers she gave as an encore, "Pessimism and Optimism."

Mr. H. R. Boyer was the third artist taking part in the program. She gave the beautiful "Blue Danube Waltz" and as an encore she played, by request, her own arrangement of patriotic airs.

Tea was served with Mesdames Frank Truscott, Harry Cogger of Los Angeles, and Mesdames A. W. Tower and W. E. Evans of Glendale, pouring.

Mrs. Huntley had invited to greet the honorees Mesdames Frank Truscott, Frank Dow, Harry Cogger, F. Richardson, Alice Armstrong, Harry P. Goodwin of Los Angeles; A. C. Hummelbaugh, Charles Emery Barber and Frances Best of Alhambra. Mesdames John Herbert Toal, Walter Stamps, Charles Temple, C. D. Lueby, Ed. M. Lee, E. U. Emery, J. Herbert Smith, J. L. ## Carrie's Hatchet Is Still Carrying On

Ben R. Moore

Carrie Nation's hatchet, which smashed through many a saloon window in pre-Volstead days, is now used in peaceful pursuits by her nephew, Ben R. Moore, carpenter, of Lexington, Ky., who is working on a new dormitory at the Eastern Kentucky Hospital for the Insane. The Lexington branch of the W. C. T. U. will take charge of the relic and put it on exhibition.

Jupiter Terrace Again In Volcanic Eruption

GARDINER, Mont., Jan. 26. — Jupiter Terrace, the largest formation in Yellowstone National Park, has erupted and big columns of hot water and steam are pouring from the pool on top of the terrace, park officials have announced. An unusual amount of water is now running over the terrace, and all the hot pools and small geysers in the vicinity of the terrace are showing more action than ever before.

The beautiful vari-colored terrace has not been damaged by the eruption, and it is believed the increase of water will enhance its beauty, because of the fact that the minerals contained in the hot water running over the terraces cause them to become colored with orange, red, gold and other hues.

When the water ceases to run on a terrace it dries up and becomes a dull gray color, finally crumbling away to dust.

Yellowstone officials are elated over the new activities in the terrace, declaring that it will add greatly to the attractions of the park.

'Neglected' Children Stage Show for Judge

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 26. — An impromptu circus performance was staged in the District Court here when the four small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Anesto Millett entertained Judge Wallace R. Heady with wrestling matches and other acrobatic stunts.

The children were brought into court as neglected children after their parents deserted them in a Ferry street tenement.

In court two of the brothers, who are twins, dropped from the chairs and stood on their heads. This unexpected entertainment amused the court, and the boys decided to stage a wrestling match. When they had finished the court proceeded with its work.

Toll Church Bells for Voters, Solon's Plan

BOSTON, Jan. 26. — Church bells to be sounded fifteen minutes before the polls open on election day is the plan of Representative Bernard Early of Newton, to stimulate interest in elections.

Representative Early wants the legislature to pass a law to require the fire alarm and church bells to be sounded so as to "stir 'em up" in the morning, so that they will get to the polls before they go to work.

CLUB WILL GIVE MUSICAL SKETCH

'An Old Fashioned Garden' Is Vehicle Selected for February Meeting

"An Old-Fashioned Garden," presented by members of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, will delight Glendale Music club members at their February meeting, Friday night, February 16.

The musical sketch to be presented in the auditorium of the Glendale Union high school is an elaboration of the sketch so cleverly presented as the charter day program at the club earlier in the season.

Miss Gertrude Champlain is to serve as accompanist for the coming production and the club members taking part in the sketch are Mesdames Frank Arnold, Virginia Freeman, W. P. MacMullin, John Cole, Charles A. Parker, L. G. Sherman, A. M. Draper, W. S. Nash, Jr., Riffa Leighton, Warren Roberts, C. H. Meadows.

Dances will be given by Blossom Moore and Cecilia Mae Fischer of the Pearl Keller school.

In connection with the program Mrs. Enona Hopkins will give harp numbers and Mrs. Charles L. Marlenee, piano selections.

The "Old Fashioned Garden" is being given by the Music club as the feature of the charter

Trip to Hawaii, Plan Of S. F. Legionnaires

HONOLULU, Jan. 26. — Plans are already being made here to organize an excursion party to Hawaii of members of the American Legion, headed by prominent legionnaires, following the next national convention of the legion in San Francisco in September, 1923. The proposal will follow the same general lines of the Shriners' pilgrimage here last summer. Several big ships probably will be chartered to bring the legion men down from the coast and tentative plans of local legion members include an excursion to all the principal islands of the Hawaiian group.
